

UNION IRON WORKER IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY EXPLOSIONS

Confesses Outrages That Rival Exploits of McNamara and McManigal

IS CHOSEN TO KILL DREW

George E. Davis Declares He was Chosen to "Get" Walter
Drew and William J. Burns

STORY IMPLICATES RYAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dynamite outrages that rivalled the exploits of the McNamara brothers and of Artie McManigal were confessed today by George E. Davis, a union iron worker, who was arrested here today, was the George O'Donnell who figured in the trial at Indianapolis that resulted in the conviction of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and thirty-seven of his associates. His arrest and its consequences round up the work the federal government started more than two years ago when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal.

All the explosions that Davis says he caused were touched on and testified to at the dynamiters' trial in Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he himself told of it today.

Harry Jones Arrested.
Davis' confession resulted too in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the iron workers' union. His confession supplements the evidence presented at the Indianapolis trial and makes fresh charges against some of the men who were convicted there and now in prison. Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, who is now out on bail, pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis says he was the man chosen to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' association, in December, 1911, after Drew was charged with kidnapping John J. McNamara. It was suggested also that he try to "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his associates to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The price on Drew's head at that time, Davis said, was $5,000. "I told them," his confession continues, "that I didn't want to mix-up in such business."

Davis consented to return to Indianapolis without extradition. His bail was fixed at $10,000. Tonight a United States marshal took him to the Indiana capital.

The conspiracy thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others still exists, according to Davis' confession. With the exception of Harry Jones the men he mentions in connection with his various dynamite jobs already have been arrested, although his confession indicated that the government had not obtained all the incriminating evidence against these defendants when they were tried at Indianapolis.

The arrest of Davis was due to Robert Foster, a Louisville detective who shadowed the iron worker through eastern cities. Finally, several weeks ago, when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession.

Released on $10,000 Bond.
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 2.—Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, arrested here today by Deputy United States Marshal Merrill Wilson on a charge of conspiring to transport explosives unlawfully, was released on $10,000 bond today. His hearing was set for Oct. 13 before United States Commissioner Howard S. Young. He declined to make a statement. The arrest is a result of the confession made by George E. Davis, alias George O'Donnell, who was arrested in New York today. In the confession Jones is charged with aiding Davis in his dynamiting work in the east.

Allen Wins Second Block
New York, Oct. 2.—Benny Allen of Kansas City tonight repeated his performance of last night, winning the second block from Alfred DeOro world's champion, in a match for the pocket billiard title by a score of 200 to 164. The total for two nights play now stands: Allen, 400; DeOro, 312.

The high runs were: Allen, 29 and 34; DeOro, 34 and 41. The final game of the series will be played tomorrow night.

RECOVERING FROM OPERATION.
Nahant, Mass., Oct. 2.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge continues on the road to recovery from the operation of last Friday, his physicians said tonight.

MILLIONAIRE HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

LAW STUDENT AT COLUMBIA MUST ANSWER STABBING CHARGE

Authorities Are Uncertain Whether Wounds in Girl's Breast Were Inflicted With Knife or Whether
They Are Result of Automobile Wreck.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Mystery perplexed investigators tonight in the case of Herman Oelrichs, millionaire law student at Columbia university, and Miss Lucille Singleton, daughter of a Texas mine owner. Although Oelrichs was held in a magistrate's court today for a hearing next Tuesday on the charge that he stabbed the girl in the breast while they were in his automobile a few nights ago, the question exists as to whether she received her injuries in this manner or from the jagged points of the broken windshield, through which she was thrown when Young Oelrichs' car crashed into a tree.

Miss Singleton did not appear in court today to press the complaint and was said tonight to be still in bed. The physician who attended her at a hospital after the automobile accident stated it was not possible to say how the cut in her chest was inflicted.

Dean Stone of Columbia said he would have Oelrichs brought before him and the faculty in the course of an investigation.

"If the facts as presented in the newspapers are true," he said, "or even if they approximate the truth he cannot remain in the institution."

WABASH ALL STEEL TRAIN ESCAPES TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Strikes Open Switch at Attica, Ind.,
While Running 50 Miles an Hour and Crashes Into Box Cars.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 2.—Because it was an all-steel train pulled by an exceedingly heavy locomotive, the Wabash Continental Limited, that railroad's fastest and best train, escaped what probably would have been a terrible accident had it been composed of wooden cars hauled by a lighter engine, when it struck an open switch at Attica, Ind., today at 1:30 p. m.

Running about 50 miles an hour the train kept to the rails and plunged into a string of box cars on a siding. The great engine plowed through four cars loaded with brick and a battered wreck, but none of the coaches were badly damaged and none of the trainmen or passengers were severely hurt. The engine, one of the largest passenger locomotives in the country, plunged through and buried aside the wreckage of the box cars, but not a wheel left the rails and none of the coaches buckled or telescoped.

ENGLISH COUPLE ARE ORDERED DEPORTED BY OFFICIALS

English Music Hall Singer and Jockey
Are to Be Deported as "Unmoral Persons."

New York, Oct. 2.—Marie Lloyd, English music hall singer, and Bernard Dillon, an English jockey, who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Olympic as Mr. and Mrs. B. Dillon were ordered deported today.

The singer admitted that she and Dillon were not legally married, but claimed that she had been living with him for five years as his wife. The board held that the pair were "unmoral persons" and ordered their return on the first available ship.

Miss Lloyd, however, retained lawyers and announced that she would appeal to Washington. Pending decision on the appeal she will be held at Ellis Island.

THURSDAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate.
Met at noon.

Appropriations committee reported urgent deficiency bill endorsing abolishment of commerce court but extending terms of its judges to December 2.

Nine bills authorizing bridges over navigable rivers were passed.

Attempt was made to pass Hetchy-Hetchy bill but it was put aside.

Conference report on tariff bill was taken up and debated.

FINES SOCIALISTS FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

CITED FOR CONTEMPT BECAUSE THEY SIGN "RESOLUTIONS OF DEFIANCE"

Street Orator is Fined $100 and Costs and Two Others Are Given
Six Months Imprisonment and Fined $300—Many Are Released
Upon Payment of Light Fines.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Superior Judge Humphries devoted the day to hearing cases against fifty-five Socialists cited by him for contempt of court because they had signed "resolutions of defiance" that denounced the judge for his injunctions in street speaking cases. Judge Humphries proceeded with the contempt cases today in spite of the fact that the state supreme court had issued a writ restraining him in the case of two defendants who had appealed. He first overruled the defendants' motion for a change of venue because of prejudice on the part of the court. He warned the defendants and their counsel that the filing of such an affidavit was of itself a new contempt.

The judge fined Kate Sadler, a street orator, $100 and costs and imposed the same fine upon Mrs. Hannah Anderson, who retorted that she had no respect for the court.

Hullet M. Wells, late Socialist candidate for mayor, and Gleen M. Hoover, former assistant attorney general of Washington, were fined $100 each and "forever" disbarred.

The severest punishment was visited upon H. O. Saylor and Roy Draper, who did not sign the resolutions of defiance but who applauded Mrs. Anderson in the court room when she gave her opinion of Judge Humphries. The men were each sentenced to six months imprisonment and to pay a fine of $300. Defendants who explained that they signed the resolutions of defiance through a misunderstanding were released upon payment of trivial costs.

The defendants who were fined announced in court that they would not pay the fines. Judge Humphries said the prisoners would be placed in the county stockade, where criminals engaged in clearing land for the county are kept.

Appeals to the state supreme court will be taken.

May Release All Prisoners.
After the court action of Judge Humphries, a consultation of other judges of the superior court was held and Judge Everett Smith said he would release all the prisoners who sought freedom on writs of habeas corpus.

Judge Humphries was angry when he heard of the consultation of his fellow judges. He made a statement to the press in which he denounced the other judges and asserted the right of habeas corpus did not apply in contempt of court proceedings.

Most of the prisoners when arrested expressed anew their contempt for Judge Humphries and defied him to his worst.

During the judge's lecture on the evil of street speaking he declared that Albert R. Parsons, the anarchist hanged in Chicago after the Haymarket riots, was guilty of murder through incitement to riot. An elderly woman dressed in black standing on a chair in the rear of the court room cried:

"That is untrue. He was an innocent man. I am Parsons' widow." Judge Humphries shouted to the woman: "Who was Lucy Parsons? Widow or no widow, you had better keep quiet or you'll find yourself in the county jail."

Judge Humphries expects to take up the remainder of the cases tomorrow. He has said that the supreme court which has issued two writs against him, has no jurisdiction. Another list of eighteen signatures to the resolution of defiance was thrust into his hand by an attorney while the judge was on the bench today, making fifty-six in all.

BANK EXAMINER CLOSES OLD MILWAUKEE INSTITUTION

Citizens' Saving and Trust Company
Is Closed When Clearing House
Banks of Milwaukee Refuse to Take It Over.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 2.—The Citizens' Savings & Trust company, founded in 1857 and the oldest corporation of its kind in Milwaukee, was closed today by State Bank Examiner A. E. Knoll. The liabilities of the company are placed at about $1,000,000 of which about $350,000 is in deposits and $650,000 in participating certificates, which are in the nature of mortgage bonds, secured by various parcels of real estate.

To protect all depositors the banking commissioner has segregated $428,000 of good assets to protect $350,000 of deposits.

SENATE ENDORSES CONFERENCE REPORT

Tariff Bill May Be In Hands of President Wilson for Signature
by Tonight

REJECT SMITH-LEVER TAX

Senate Rejects Compromise Cotton Futures
Tax Passed by House and Recedes from Clark Cotton Futures Tax Plan

TO OMIT COTTON FUTURES QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The tariff revision bill probably will be in the hands of President Wilson for his signature by tomorrow night. The senate, at the end of a listless debate, passed the conference report at 8:30 o'clock tonight by a vote of 36 to 17, only four more than the necessary quorum of the senate.

Senators LaFollette, Republican, and Poinsett, Progressive, voted for the conference report as they did for the bill on its passage and Senators Ransdell and Thorton, Democrats, voted against it as they did against the bill. Otherwise it was a strict party vote.

Reject Smith-Lever Tax.
Immediately after the passage of the conference report acting on motions made by Chairman Simmons of the finance committee the senate rejected the Smith-Lever compromise cotton futures tax amendment, passed by the house on Tuesday, and receded from its own amendment known as the Clarke cotton futures tax plan.

Both of these motions were carried without roll calls and their effect is to leave the cotton futures question out of the tariff bill so far as the senate is concerned.

The bill will be returned to the house early tomorrow. At a conference of house leaders today the question was taken up as to whether the bill might not go directly from the senate to the president. While many parliamentarians held that this course would be legal, Chairman Underwood and Speaker Clarke decided that the house should take formal action tomorrow to recede from its cotton futures tax amendment, which action will eliminate the subject from the bill and the completed measure can go to President Wilson at once.

May Become a Law Tomorrow.
It was thought at the capitol tonight that the bill would become a law on Saturday. Anticipating such a conclusion to the tariff revision fight, the treasury department was busy today making final preparations to put the new rates of duty into effect on all foreign merchandise on the day following the signature of the bill by the president. It is expected that millions of dollars worth of imported goods now held in bond will be withdrawn from distribution in this country within two or three days after the new tariff rates become effective.

Banker Criticizes Bill.
Representatives of small banking in the middle west and south appeared before the senate banking and currency commission today to criticize the administration currency bill. Generally the small bankers endorsed the purposes of the bill as framed but in several cases amendments of importance, proposing changes that would offer advantages to smaller banks were suggested.

The principal objection voiced went to the provision of the bill which would deprive the bankers of the charges now made for the collection of out of town checks. These collections, the bankers said, represented considerable profit and should not be taken from the banks. Another general objection was entered to the scheme proposing twelve regional reserve banks. The bankers recommended a smaller number of even a single bank, to concentrate the reserves of the country.

Resolution For Father's Day.
Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, father of eight children, today introduced in the house a resolution designating the first day in June as Father's Day with the rose as its emblem. Mr. Moore said the resolution was introduced at the suggestion of Charles E. Kirkbride and Carrie B. Sternberg of Philadelphia, who have obtained a charter for Father's Day under the laws of Pennsylvania.

The resolution would not make the day a legal holiday.

Propose Government Ownership.
Government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines is to be proposed in bills Representative Lewis of Maryland is now drafting for the introduction in the house, probably within a month.

Although the measures, which would have these public utilities taken over as a part of the postal service have not been made administration policy the president is known to have discussed the idea with Representative Lewis and others interested in the project.

Whip-poor-will in House.
It took most of the officials and pages an hour today to "shoo" out of the solemn chamber of the house of representatives a young whip-poor-will which got in past the doorkeepers and couldn't find its way out. After many expeditions had been tried a page hit upon a happy scheme—he opened a skylight and the whip-poor-will flew out.

Greet Northwestern Bankers.
President Wilson late today greeted at the white house more than 100 northwestern bankers from Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota enroute to the convention of the American Bankers' association to be held next week in Boston. The bankers were accompanied by their wives and families and the party filled the president's office, utilized for the reception owing to repairs being made to the east room in the white house.

QUAKE AT PANAMA DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

NO DAMAGE IS REPORTED TO ANY BUILDING OR PROPERTY IN CITY

The Province of Los Santos, However, Reports the Government Palace Wrecked and Other Buildings Wrecked by the Violent Earthquake.

COLON, Oct. 2.—The officials of the Panama canal at Culebra and Ancon in reply to telephonic inquiries state that they have not received any reports indicating damage to the canal at any point from last night's earthquake and this was corroborated by Colonel Goethals.

The Colon police reports indicate that no damage was caused to any buildings or property anywhere within this city.

The frame houses of Colon rocked with each motion of the earthquake and the people hearing the timbers creaking, rushed into the streets half clad. Many camped out in the parks till early morning.

Breaks Plaster in Church.
Panama, Oct. 2.—The only serious damage to buildings in the city of Panama by the earthquake of last night, was the shaking down of some of the plaster and fresco interiors of the famous flat-arched Santo Domingo church.

Colonel Goethals has received reports from every part of the canal territory stating that no damage whatever has resulted. The earthquake appears to have been particularly violent in the province of Los Santos, where the government palace in the city of Los Santos was wrecked and other buildings damaged.

Canal Suffers No Injury.
Canal officials are greatly pleased tonight over the Gatun Locks withstanding what they regard a supreme test. They believe it has shown to the world that it will take more than an ordinary earthquake to cause irreparable damage to the structures of the Panama canal.

Lieut. Col. Sibert went over the greater part of the Gatun Locks today and Colonel Goethals was early assured that the canal works had suffered no injury.

ENTOMBED MINER WILL NOT BE FREED FOR MANY HOURS

Rescuers Will Be Unable To Reach
Him For At Least Eighteen Hours
Probably Longer.

Centuria, Pa., Oct. 2.—Separated from freedom by 15 feet of solid coal, Thomas Toshesky, the miner who has been entombed in the Continental Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal company since last Friday morning, must spend at least 18 hours more in his cell one hundred feet below the surface. He was told this tonight by rescuers who are working desperately to penetrate the wall of coal surrounding him. Mine officials directing the work declared tonight that it would be impossible to break the coal barrier until noon tomorrow and "perhaps not then."

Toshesky rescuers several times today conversed with him through the fifty foot pipe that has been inserted from an adjoining chamber and through which his food is sent to him. He told the physician who directs his diet tonight that he was becoming somewhat weakened because he has had no solid food for nearly a week but was as well as could be expected under the circumstances. He frequently asks the time and passes much of the time singing and praying that none of the rescuers will meet with an accident in the attempt to free him.

MAY HASTEN PEACE

Paris, Oct. 2.—Intransigent today says it learns Turkey has been informed that the French government cannot discuss the projected $140,000,000 loan to the Turkish government until the present Greco-Turkish differences have been settled. This attitude of France, the newspaper believes, will hasten the solution of the dangerous situation and will remove the last obstacle to peace in the Balkans.

WANT THANKSGIVING DAY ON EARLIER DATE

GOV. DUNNE WILL CALL CONFERENCE
OF LEADING CITIZENS NEXT WEEK

May Address Appeal to President
Wilson to Fix November 19th the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, as Thanksgiving Day This Year.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 2.—Governor Dunne will call a conference of leading citizens of Illinois next week to consider the proposition of addressing a memorial to President Wilson appealing to him to fix Wednesday, November 19th as Thanksgiving Day for this year.

November 19th will be the 50th anniversary of the delivery of Abraham Lincoln of his immortal Gettysburg address. The date is one week and one day earlier than Thanksgiving Day would come in the usual course of events.

The movement has been under consideration for some time by some of the foremost men of Illinois. It has the endorsement of Governor Dunne, United States Senators Sherman and Lewis, State Senators Hugh S. Magill and W. Duff Pierce, state Superintendent of Schools Francis G. Blair and others.

Governor Dunne probably will call the proposed conference for Thursday of next week.

MRS. PANKHURST WILL BE GIVEN NO RECEPTION

Pittsburgh Suffragists Pledge Themselves to Fight Against Influence of the Militants.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 2.—No reception of any sort awaits Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst from Pennsylvania suffragists, upon her visit to this country. This was the dictum voiced at the headquarters of the equal franchise federation here today.

This public statement was given but: "Pittsburgh suffragists have pledged themselves to join with the Equal Franchise Federation of Pennsylvania in fighting against the influence of the militants and Mrs. Pankhurst will find the doors of the local suffrage enthusiasts closed to her no matter how loudly she may shout 'votes for women.'"

PROBE MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF REAR-ADMIRAL J. G. EATON

Admiral's Widow Charged With Poisoning Her Husband and Will Be Tried Oct. 14.

Hingham, Mass., Oct. 2.—The mysterious death of Rear-Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton at his home in the admiral's widow who is charged subject of further secret inquest here today.

Eight witnesses were heard, most of them neighbors of the Eatons. It is upon the evidence adduced at the inquest that Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, the admiral's widow, who is charged with murdering her husband by the administering of poison is to be tried October 14th.

At the conclusion of today's proceedings the inquest was again adjourned indefinitely.

One official connected with the case said today the "real facts have not yet come out; when they do it will be an interesting story."

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE

NAPLES, Italy, Oct. 2.—Maxim Gorke, the Russian novelist, who lives at villa on the island of Capri, is so ill with tuberculosis that he has been obliged to come here and submit to a special cure.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—John C. Hennepin, arrested yesterday in Minneapolis has confessed that he entered into a conspiracy to blacken the reputation of Clarence S. Funk, formerly general manager of the International Harvester company according to an announcement by States Attorney Woyne tonight.

PALO ALTO, Cal., Oct. 2.—Mrs. G. H. Foss, 15 years old, who has refused food sixty-one days and has lived on a water diet during that time, continues to resist all efforts to administer sustenance. Physicians attribute the woman's abstinence to melancholia and predict her death in a short time. Mrs. Foss has become greatly emaciated.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2.—Beneficiaries of Frank Bradley, a miner killed today at Leewood, W. Va., on Cabin Creek, by a fall of slate will be the first person to receive benefits under the workmen's compensation act which went into effect yesterday. The widow will begin to receive $20 a month immediately and her two children will each receive $5 a month until they reach the age of 14.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Forty-four delegates from the United States and Canada met here today for the annual convention of the board of missions of the evangelical association. They represent 115,475 persons in America and abroad who contributed $469,975.91 in the year ending August 31 to home and foreign missions.

FLOOD CONDITIONS IN THE SOUTHWEST MUCH IMPROVED

With Cessation of Rain In Some Sections Most of Streams Cease Rising

DAMAGE IS ENORMOUS

Damage Will Reach $200,000
In San Antonio--Estimate In Smaller Towns Impossible

ONLY EIGHT LIVES ARE LOST

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 2.—The San Antonio river which overflowed its banks today, flooding a portion of San Antonio and southwest Texas, is falling rapidly tonight. Train service is still crippled and wire communication interrupted to several towns. In San Antonio it is estimated the damage will reach $200,000.

Until communication is restored an accurate estimate of the damage in the smaller towns and plantations along the stream is not possible.

A woman and three children were drowned near Hotwells, and two women and two children lost their lives near Georgetown.

The latter town is on the San Gabriel river, which reached flood stage this morning.

Situation Improved.
Dallas, Texas, Oct. 2.—Flood conditions in southeast and southwest Texas and western Louisiana showed improvement with the cessation of rain in some sections today.

Most of the streams which have been out of bounds have ceased rising. From the interior today came encouraging reports that streams were falling.

Improvement was made today in telegraph and telephone communication. Despite the large area flooded in populous sections only eight persons are known to have been drowned.

Washed Out Santa Fe Bridge.
Roswell, N. M., Oct. 2.—A rain-fall equalling a cloudburst near Redlands, about forty miles south of Carlsbad, washed out the bridge over the Pecos river of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe track which will delay traffic for three days. Passengers are being held at Carlsbad.

Water's Action Uncertain.
Lake Charles, La., Oct. 2.—Residents today did not know whether to expect a rise or fall of the water that has flooded this city and a large portion of southwest Louisiana for several days. Reports from river points were that rain had fallen in many places and that the river was rising rapidly. Some of the flood water, however, has found an outlet to a low prairie country. Meat is becoming scarce here.

Flood Damage $250,000.
San Marcos, Tex., Oct. 2.—Flood damage totalling at least $250,000 has resulted in this section during the last twenty-four hours from an unprecedented stage in the San Marcos and Blanco rivers, which now form a large lake. Several costly steel bridges have collapsed. Railroad traffic practically is suspended.

Report Heavy Rainfalls.

Houston, Texas, Oct. 2.—There has been a rainfall of 18.13 inches here in twenty-five days and the precipitation has been more than five inches since Thursday night. Other places report heavy rainfalls.

Railroad traffic practically has been annulled throughout a large part of the flooded district. Several cities in southeast and southwest Texas report that damage from floods will reach probably more than $1,000,000.

Rice and other crops have suffered and the lumber industry in southeast Texas and southwest Louisiana has been practically suspended.

SIMULTANEOUS MEETINGS ATTENDED BY HUNDREDS

MEN HEAR DR. MCARTY AT NORTHMINSTER WOMEN'S MEETING IN TENT.

Audience Large at Double Mass Meeting and Interest Fervent—Dr. Rees Discusses "Modern Sodomy"—"Layman Responsibility," McCarty's Theme.

With the big tent crowded with women Thursday night and with a good sized and interested audience of men in the auditorium of Northminster church, indications were never better for the union revival's ultimate success. At the women's meeting the response to the invitation was better than at any service of the series. Highly encouraging was the testimony of men at the close of the service at Northminster church and the number who arose to voice opinions on the responsibility of the layman. Rev. Mr. McCarty announced as his subject, "A Man's Job" and the sermon subject for the women's meeting, Dr. Rees took "The Modern Sodomy, Revised."

"Reasons Why Men Are Not Christians" is the subject announced for the next mass meeting, for men only at the tent Sunday at 3 p. m. At the special students' service this evening Dr. Rees will speak on "Four College Chums." A short outdoor meeting on the square will be addressed by Rev. Mr. Rees at 3 o'clock Saturday and the third shop meeting will be held by the evangelist at the noon hour at the C. P. & St. L. shops today. This afternoon cottage prayer meetings will again be held.

The Service in the Tent.

In his preliminary announcements at the women's meeting Dr. Rees warned the women of the city against representatives of the Millennial Dawn who are spreading their propaganda under the guise of aids for the study of scripture and works endorsed by the "International Bible Student's association." Mr. Rees sang a solo, "Is He Yours?" and a number of girls from the Woman's college assisted in the music. In speaking on the "Twentieth century Sodomy," Dr. Rees said in part:

"There are but two entrances in this city today—'The Twentieth Century Sodomy'—original sin, and our own sins, and two keys unlock the gate through which we pass out, faith and obedience. There are four avenues on which the women of the twentieth century—Sodomy live, and the first one is worldliness. We are compound beings, we have a physical body as well as a soul. The competition which goes on is strong. One lady wants to dress as well, entertain, belong to as many clubs as the next lady on worldliness street and so the struggle goes on. The passion to be amused today is greater than ever before, and yet what profit is it later on. It is not what we get out of the world that counts, but what we put into it in character and high ideals."

The next avenue mentioned was the best and broadest in the city, the street called "Self Righteousness." "This is a dangerous street to live on, because the Bible teaches that to be saved you must be born again. Christ came to call sinners to repentance, not the righteous, and if you think you are righteous, when you are not then you are in danger. 'The third avenue is indifference and neglect.' If you neglect your physical life, as you do your spiritual you would not be here. If you neglect your domestic life as you do your eternal, your homes would not be very happy."

"The next avenue is the poorest, and is occupied at all should be occupied by men. It is the street called 'Infidelity.' Men go out into the world and they are hardened, but women do not as rule come under such influence and so they should be true in their belief. God pity the woman whose homes does not demand her attention, and who is so idle that she has time to read the literature which is the spider web of skepticism."

The first street in this city is gossiping street and for a few minutes Dr. Rees painted a strong picture of this street and the harm its residents do in the world. He said the future of many men and women was spoiled by miserable gossip. Life is a struggle, it's no holiday, and so let us make it easier, not harder for people to try and live. It is not the spirit of the Master to go back over the yesterdays and yet so many people tell what happened years ago, after women and men are trying to live right.

The second street is called "Robbing street," and on this street we find many people. Christ said, "Daughter, give me thy heart and go labor in my vineyard," so those who do not obey these commands rob God of their heart and service. Then when Christians do not join a church, they rob the church of their name.

The next street is "Drink street" and this street has to be mentioned, Dr. Rees said, because drink on the part of women is shown by statistics to be on the increase. This is due to the wholesale peddling practice and to the punch bowl.

The last street in the 20th century Sodomy is the street of "Immorality," or the "Dual Sin street." There are a great many things Dr. Rees said that he could not understand. For instance he declared he could not see how a girl can leave the purity of her mother. Then, too, can't understand how a woman will stand before an altar and in the most solemn manner promise to honor, love, comfort and leave to the man of her choice, and then go out and break her vow. It's true, though, and all the proof needed is in the newspapers and the courts of law. I am going to tell the men before I leave this city that if they want a through ticket to hell they will get it when in the grasp of this dual sin.

Never since the first days of sacrifice on an altar has there been an altar built where so much has been sacrificed as on the altar of this sin. Husbands sacrifice wives, wives sacrifice mothers, and children, sons sacrifice mothers and God in its grasp. After stating that there are 300,000 of these women in the world, that 1,000 died every 12 months, Dr. Rees spoke of how the supply is secured yearly, declaring that one-half are deceived through the white slave traffic. He urged the mothers to tell the girls the truth, declaring that seventy-five per cent of the girls go wrong because of lack of proper instructions.

The Responsibility of Laymen. The responsibility of the laymen as contrasted with that developing upon the minister was the theme at the men's meeting of Rev. Mr. McCarty, who said in part:

"Laymen have very decided views about what kind of preachers they want and they are generally fair and reasonable. But from God's viewpoint it is just as important to have the right kind of Laymen. Laymen give character to a church. Ministers come and go but Laymen remain."

This is preeminently the day of the Laymen. They are hearing God's call. God has a place for every man in this Kingdom and he calls each man to it. The conviction that you ought to be a better man, the discontent with the man you are is God's call to you.

"God calls men to real work. So many men want to serve in the Lord's army on dress parade. Their service is of the 'band wagon' variety. But the work of the Kingdom is a great work and is hard work."

"God wants Laymen who are men of character, men of a religious life and men of activity."

"We expect the minister to be a man of strength of character. We admire strength in the Layman. He should be clean. We will not permit the minister to tell the vile story. Why should the Laymen? He should be clean in money matters. He should be dependable, a man whom God can trust."

"Men sometimes feel they are not naturally religious. This is a mistake. All men are by nature religious. The church needs men of great faith, men who believe truth and believe it tremendously. It needs men of prayer, and large religious experience. We are too content with just enough religious life and known we have it. Men with little physical life are sick and miserable. So are Christian men with spiritual life ebbing low. Christ came that we might have life and have it abundantly."

"The call is too for men of aggressive activity. Service is a large word in the Christian vocabulary. The Layman who can see what is to be done and does it is in large demand in the work of the Kingdom."

YOUNGLOOD PRAIRIE.

Miss Sarah Myers and Miss Edith Fanning of Rees visited here Sunday with Miss Fanning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fanning.

Mr. Gunn of Kansas is visiting his grandfather, William Story, and other relatives in this vicinity.

Quite a number from this place and Union Grove, Hart's Prairie attended the funeral of Rev. Cary Fitzgerald at White Hall Monday. He was well known in this place and had a great number of friends, made while pastor of the Baptist church for a number of years, with good success. He was often sought to conduct funerals.

Work on W. F. Edwards' new house in Nortonville is progressing all right.

Dr. C. E. Waters was a caller in Jacksonville Thursday.

Last Saturday was the 80th birthday of Robert Alexander and a number of his children and grandchildren gathered at his home and helped him celebrate the event. His daughter prepared a fine dinner, which was greatly enjoyed by the guests present. A very enjoyable time was had by all the guests, who remained until a late hour and departed wishing Mr. Alexander many returns of the happy occasion. The old gentleman is hale and hearty and bids fair to live for several years to come and although so advanced in years is able to do a considerable amount of work.

Mr. Jacksonville Merchant:

DEAR SIR—A city is known by its 'electric signs' This is no figure of speech. A stranger flees the dark town as though it was a graveyard. For the same reason a bright town is like a joy ride.

Jacksonville is sitting up and "rubbing its eyes." Let's make it a real awaking. No use saying we can't. Little dinky towns are booming things strong. Electrical advertising has done for cities and towns what Jacksonville is waiting for. Advancement will come by the liberal use of ELECTRIC SIGNS.

Phone us. We have a specialist on electric advertising with us for a few days.

RAYMOND LOCATES SCARF PIN HIDDEN BY NUMBER OF MEN

Makes Blindfold Drive About the City, Following Exact Course Taken by Committee.

"The Great Raymond," who is appearing at the Grand Opera house this week, made a blindfold drive about the city Thursday afternoon and found a scarf pin that a number of men had hidden.
Mr. Raymond selected a committee composed of Homer Wood, Luther E. Smith, E. J. Howells, J. W. Taylor, J. W. Priest of the Courier and a representative of the Journal, to drive around the city in a carriage and hide the pin. He also selected a committee composed of Frank Byrns, Harry Obermeyer, Larick Giles and B. F. Lane, to stay with him in the lobby of the theatre in order to see that none of the members of his company told him of the route that the carriage had taken. Homer Wood drove the carriage around several of the principal streets, making several stops and the men finally hid the pin between the pages of the register of the Dunlap hotel. They then drove back to the theatre where Mr. Raymond was blindfolded by Frank Byrns, a kid glove being placed over each eye and held in place with a heavy cloth. Mr. Raymond mounted the driver's seat of the carriage and with a number of men selected from both committees drove the horses around the exact route taken by the men and located the pin without difficulty. Mr. Raymond drove the horses quite rapidly and one or two times had narrow escape from a collision. One of the horses fell on East State street and at another place the tongue of the carriage tore quite a hole in the top cover of S. W. Babb's automobile.

We are showing a large line of suits in the latest patterns and models from $7.50 upwards. Don't fail to see them.

A QUIET WEDDING.

Woodson, Ill.,
Oct. 2, 1913.

To the Journal:
On Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, 1913, at 8:15 p. m., Dr. G. W. Miller officiating, occurred the marriage of Mr. Jerome B. Culp and Mrs. Gusie H. Gordon at the bride's home, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Henry of Woodson, Ill. It was a very quiet and unobtrusive affair, only the immediate members of the family being present. Not being versed in the make-up or description of the bride's apparel we will not attempt an account of the same, but simply say she was beautifully and elegantly gowned, and was perfectly lovely in appearance. This is the second venture of the contracting parties in the matrimonial field. Mr. Culp is one of our most successful farmers and stock men. He has resided in this community a long number of years and has had business dealings with perhaps every farmer in the vicinity and his reputation as a business man in all his transactions has been such as to insure to him the confidence of the surrounding community. He is the owner of a nice farm adjoining the village of Woodson, upon which he has built for himself a splendid, comfortable house. He is a hospitable, energetic gentleman, and in Mrs. Gordon has secured for himself a most lovely and lovable wife. Mrs. Gordon was born and reared near Woodson, Ill., is a woman of winning personality. She has taught school in Woodson for a number of terms, and during the past few years has been one of the teachers in the ward schools of Jacksonville. Altogether the marriage of Mr. Culp and Mrs. Gordon was quite a surprise to their many friends. The best wishes of the community goes out to them for their future happiness and success in life. After a short wedding tour they will be at home to their friends on the farm near Woodson where the writer of this short sketch has enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Culp, and his confidence for a number of years.

Harmon's
DRY GOODS STORE

Jacksonville, Ill., October, 1913.

DEAR FRIENDS AND PATRONS:—

The Fall season is now upon us—with real winter "just around the corner." As the mercury drops from day to day, and the chilly winds blow, you are brought face to face with the urgency of procuring cold weather wearables. New dresses are to be bought—gloves, hosiery, underwear for the whole family, warm blankets—and the hundred and one other things that contribute to your comfort.

It is at just such a time that I desire to come into closer touch with the public and tell you in this personal sort of way of this store—its goods—its service.

As I look over the gigantic stocks that fill every shelf, showcase and counter and recall what a thorough search of the market has been made to accomplish this result—how fashion's latest whims were met—how carefully the dependability of every article purchased was investigated—and how bargain after bargain was driven—I feel at liberty to extend an invitation broadcast to every woman in Jacksonville's trade limits to bring her dry goods wants to this store, with full confidence that her every need can be satisfactorily filled.

Perhaps some of you who read this letter have never visited this store—and do not know that it is "The Store for Dress Goods and Silks." If so, we extend to you a special invitation to investigate our claim. Come in some day this week, look around, note the low prices on the many beautiful things you see displayed, and see if you do not discover as many others are doing daily, that this is a splendid place to trade.

You will find our sales force to be courteous and pleasant to deal with, thoroughly posted about fabrics and styles and a real help in selecting goods for your special requirement.

The styles in women's apparel this season are more attractive than ever—gorgeous effects are sought after and are developed chiefly from broadened weaves. We are prepared to meet this demand to the perfect satisfaction of the most critical. Our dress fabric section is the wonder section of the whole store. It is kept right up to the minute in styles and down to bed-rock in prices.

Trusting that I may soon have the pleasure of meeting you in the store, I beg to remain,

Yours Respectfully,

E. B. HARMON.

SENIOR PREPS ENJOY BANQUET AT COLONIAL INN

Several Members Were Late at Dinner, Having Been Caught and Held Prisoners by the Middlers.

The members of the Senior class of Whipple Academy enjoyed a banquet at Colonial Inn Thursday evening, but not until after a very exciting time. The Middlers had "gotten wise" to the banquet and so proceeded to waylay and tie up a number of the seniors. After keeping them captive for a short time they were released. It is said that two classes may indulge in an old-fashioned color rush this morning.

After all were safely landed at the inn an excellent supper was enjoyed, after which Prof. Harris, class officer, was introduced and the following toasts were given:

"Those Outside"—Mr. Kormeyer.
"Class of 1914"—Chester Colton.
"Class Spirit"—Miss Frances Hubble.
"Welcoming New Members"—Frank Morrison.

Have You Seen the Capps Indian Blanket Novelty Coats in Our Windows and on Display Inside

These loose, warm, wooly, perfect fitting garments are the sensation of the season. Lovers of outdoor sports and pastimes say they are the most sensible fad ever started and that their popularity is certain to increase.

They follow the original designs of Capps genuine Indian blankets. Some of the patterns are quiet and subdued, others as "loud" (and as harmonious) as Sousa's brass band. You will be glad to see them. You will enjoy snuggling into their wonderful "comfortableness."

Men's styles made in Norfolk style only. All have shawl collars and roomy patch pockets. Women's styles made in Norfolk and plain with sleeves and shoulder, slightly narrower than men's styles and cut in a little at the waist.

SULZER IMPEACHMENT COURT ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY

Attorneys For the Governor Are Given Time to Perfect Their Plans For Opening the Case.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—A brief session of the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer was held today and then an adjournment was taken until Monday afternoon. This was done in order that the attorneys for the governor might have time to perfect their plans for opening the case. Of the plans of the defense little is known, except that Louis A. Sarecky, formerly the governor's campaign secretary, will be the first witness for the impeached executive and that the governor will testify in his own behalf.

Efforts by the governor's attorneys today to have certain testimony stricken from the record brought the statement from the court that this motion would have to be renewed when all the evidence was in.

"I shall hold," Judge Cullen said, "that all motions involving the probative force of competent evidence must be left until the final submission of the case."

READY FOR KNABE MURDER TRIAL AT INDIANAPOLIS

Two Prominent Men Must Answer for Death of Doctor—No More Trial Delays Likely.

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—Everything is said to be in readiness for the trial before the present term of the criminal court of Dr. William B. Knabe, dean of Indiana Veterinary college, and Alonzo M. Ragsdale, a local undertaker, jointly indicted by the Marion county grand jury on the charge of having murdered Dr. Helene Knabe during the night of October 23, 1911. The case had originally been set for June 23, but went over because the lawyers for the defense had appealed to Judge Markey for more time to prepare the defense. The prosecution has been ready for a long time and it is not believed that the court will grant any further delays upon the request of the defense unless some good reason is shown.

The trial will, undoubtedly, attract a great deal of attention, partly on account of the social prominence of the two accused men, partly owing to the mysterious circumstances surrounding the crime. Both Dr. Craig and Mr. Ragsdale are wealthy men, have been well known and respected in social circles throughout the city for many years and are well connected. The indictment on October 30, 1912, by the grand jury on the charge of murder created a tremendous sensation.

Dr. Helene Knabe, the victim of the murder, was a handsome woman of 35 years, highly respected as a woman and as a scientist of great promise. She was born in Germany, the daughter of an engineer in the German army and came to America when quite young. She graduated from the Indiana College of Medicine and, having specialized in bacteriology, became bacteriologist in the state laboratory of the Indiana board of health. A few years ago she resigned to devote herself to the study of hygiene and the pathology of child birth. She lived alone in an apartment on the ground floor of an apartment building not far from the business section of the city and devoted most of her time to study. Her private life was always believed to be above suspicion.

When Miss Katherine McPherson, Dr. Knabe's assistant, entered the apartment of the employer on the morning of October 24, 1911, she found Dr. Knabe dead upon her bed, with her head almost severed from the body. Her body was naked, her right robe rolled up under her arms and a pillow upon her breast. Miss McPherson called a physician, who decided that Dr. Knabe had been dead for at least six hours. The police authorities were notified, but were unable to solve the mystery of the case. No knife or any other sharp instrument was found in the bedroom and most surprising of all, with the exception of a few drops on the sheet no blood was found on the bed or anywhere in the apartment. There was no evidence of any struggle and the police authorities finally gave out the rather absurd statement that it was a case of suicide.

The Indianapolis Council of Women, composed of prominent women, was not satisfied with the explanation given by the police and employed H. C. Webster, a private detective, to investigate the case. It was upon the information submitted by Webster that the grand jury took up the case and indicted Dr. Craig and Mr. Ragsdale. It was ascertained by the detective that Dr. Craig, a widower with several children, was an intimate friend of Dr. Knabe and a frequent visitor at her apartment. She also frequently visited him at his home. It is alleged that Dr. Knabe wished Dr. Craig to marry her, but that he did not want to do so. It was further ascertained that Dr. Knabe visited the Craig home on the evening before her death, under the pretext of returning a book she had borrowed. It is not positively known what took place in Dr. Knabe's apartment on the night of the murder, but the prosecution is confident to be able to connect Dr. Craig with the crime. Mr. Ragsdale, it is believed, is only an accessory after the fact.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

September 29, the Missionary Society of Pisgah Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Cunningham with Mrs. and Mrs. St. Claire as hostesses. Miss Moore gave a very interesting paper on "David Livingston."

At the close of the Missionary meeting the Willing Workers held a business meeting at which decided to hold their annual bazaar and oyster supper on December 11, the place to be named later.

At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served.

LIGHTS SHINE AGAIN IN SECOND AND FOURTH WARDS

Armature at City Plant Recently Burned Out Has Been Replaced—City System Short Seventy Lamps.

Once more there was light in the second and fourth wards last night. These wards have been in total darkness for several nights on account of the burning of an armature on the east dynamo at the city light plant. Commissioner Brennan said yesterday that the accident was caused by a crossing of wires somewhere and while he greatly regretted the inconvenience that had been caused that it was one of those accidents which unavoidably happen. It is a fact however that the streets of Jacksonville are getting more poorly lighted all the time as every little while one of the arc lamps is disabled and it is impossible to get them repaired except by hand. This work would be at a prohibitive price and Mr. Brennan can find no other way but to put old lamps in the junk pile when they are worn out, although he uses any parts which will be servicable repairing other lamps. When the city light system was in full running order light was supplied by 44 incandescents and 227 arc lamps. Today the 44 incandescents and 117 arcs are furnishing the light, showing that the system is short 70 lamps.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Isabelle d'Armond is going to remain in vaudeville.

Henry W. Savage may stage "The Shogun" in Paris this season.

Ethel Barrymore has begun rehearsals of "Tante" in New York.

A new play by George Broadhurst, entitled "Today," is shortly to be produced.

Mabel Wilbur is to be featured in the coming production of "The Moon Maiden."

Miss Henrietta Crossman is to act this season in a new play called "The Tongues of Men."

Owen Davis has written a play entitled "Beggars on Horseback." It will be produced by W. A. Brady.

Eugene Walter has finished a play called "A Plain Woman." Klaw & Erlanger expect to produce it this season.

May Robson has opened her starring tour in Canada in a comedy by James Forbes entitled "Mrs. Matt Plummer."

Annie Russell is rehearsing "The School for Scandal," which will be added to the repertoire of her Old English Comedy company.

Charles Meakins has an important role in a new musical piece to be produced by Henry W. Savage in New York at an early date.

Henrietta Wakefield, who has been singing grand opera roles, is in the cast of "Rob Roy," after refusing several grand opera offers.

John Drew is to appear in a double bill this season. One of the plays will be "The Tyranny of Tears," the other play by Abrie, called "The Will."

Owen Johnson, the well known writer, is working on an operative version of "Rip Van Winkle," for which Puccini, it is said, will compose the music.

Alexandra Carlisle has been engaged by John Cort to play the leading feminine role in "The Marriage Game," a new play by Anne Crawford Flexner.

Efforts are being made to exploit in Chicago a play entitled "The Traffic." It is, from all accounts, of a piece with "The Lure" and "The Fight" and originated at Los Angeles.

The title of the new play by Rachel Crothers, in which the Misses Mabel and Edith Tallafiero will be featured, has been definitely decided upon. It will be called "The Wisdom of Youth."

New York is to have a "Harrigan night," for which there will be a big all star program reviving the old time songs and dances of Harrigan and Hart, popular about twenty-five years ago.

Chrystal Herne, whom the Shuberts are featuring with Guy Standing in "At Bay," is a daughter of that grand old actor, James A. Herne. Miss Herne's last notable appearance was with John Mason in "As a Man Thinks."

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

Somebody has been whispering in Connie Mack's ear. Thursday's press dispatches state that the Athletic manager will use his regular players in the line-up the balance of the season. It is not because he is desirous of giving the people a run or their money, however. He says he wants to keep them in "team training" for the big battle with the Giants next week.

The baseball writers of the big league circuits stand eighteen for the Nationals to win against nine for the Americans and three undecided. Almost without exception, however, they qualify their predictions by stating that slightest break in the luck of the game will swing the to suspend play. In a few minutes the field was so soggy that the game had to be called off. A double header between the teams will be played tomorrow. For the first time in a week Manager Mack had his full strength in the field.

JEWISH NEW YEAR 5674.

New York, Oct. 2.—The celebration of Rosh Hashona, or the Jewish New Year, began today, and during the remainder of this week the holiday will be sedulously observed in all Jewish communities, with special services. This is the beginning of the year 5674 of the Jewish calendar, and with the exception of Yom Kippur, or the great fast day, the day of Atonement, the festival of the New Year is the most strictly observed of any in the calendar. At this time the so-called Reformed Jews unite with the Orthodox Jews in the celebration of the occasion. It matters not how distant any Jew has kept himself from his co-religionists, on New Year's day and the holy days that follow he is found in the synagogue. For that reason it is impossible to accommodate the large number of Jews in New York city who desire to attend services, and therefore in many sections of the city public halls are secured. One of the features of the New Year celebration is the exchange of gifts and beautiful cards.

"CASCARETS" ALWAYS
STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

If Costive, Headachy, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Breath Bad—Clean Your Liver and Bowels.

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.—Adv.

DOCUMENT INDICATES
BIG BUSINESS DEAL.

Peck & Read Owners of Entire System of Brown's Business Col-

A document filed Thursday in the office of Eugene D. Pratt, county recorder was of more than usual interest. It is a copy of a mortgage for $100,000 on Brown's Business college in Jacksonville and the other institutions conducted in cities in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Indiana under the same name. This document was executed by Roscoe H. Peck and Harlan E. Read of St. Louis in favor of J. C. Jones, London, in which they bind themselves to pay $100,000 in installments of $10,000 each year, beginning with February 1, 1914, and ending Feb. 1, 1923.

The properties listed for security include Brown's Business colleges in the following cities: Jacksonville, Peoria, Decatur, Galesburg, Bloomington, Centralia, Moline, Rock Island, Danville, Alton, East St. Louis, Cairo and Marion, Ill.; Bloomington, Iowa; Terra Haute, Ind.; Davenport, Iowa, and five in Louisiana. These are the valuable business college properties which Prof. G. W. Brown of this city has built up through a term of years of exceptional activity and the document filed yesterday was simply a part of the transaction whereby these properties have been transferred by Mr. Brown to Messrs. Peck & Read. These young men have been connected with the business colleges during a term of years and they are wholly conversant with the large business enterprise which they are handling and will doubtless make their business college system a greater success with each passing year.

MONUMENT MARKS OLD TRACE.

Tusculum, Ala., Oct. 2.—State officials and other prominent citizens of Mississippi and Alabama assembled at the interstate boundary line near here today and took part in the dedication of a boulder monument marking the spot by which the old Natchez trace was run when it was opened as a mail route in 1791. The old highway was in use for nearly a century and traces of it still exist. The monument to mark its location was erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Alabama and Mississippi.

INSURANCE MEN ORGANIZE.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—The securing of legislation that will be of benefit to the insurance companies and the general public is the chief object of the Insurance Federation of Missouri, which was organized at a conference held here today by leading insurance men from all parts of the state. The federation will keep track of bills in the legislature, pointing out defects to the lawmakers and the public and suggesting constructive substitutes.

PACKING METHODS
CHANGE WITH YEARS

OLD TIME HOG KILLING DIFFERED GREATLY FROM USAGES OF TODAY.

Jacksonville Packing Company Does an Extensive Business at the Local Plant—Buys Cattle and Hogs From Large Area—Methods of Past and Present Compared.

Do any of the elderly readers of the Journal remember butchering day when they were children. Generally several neighbors came to the house and all took hold and helped. One or more big kettles were filled with water, which was brought to a boiling point, a big barrel or hog-head was placed at an angle of 45 degrees, the water poured in and a hog was brought out, knocked in the head and stabbed in the heart, dipped into the hot water several times and pulled out. Provident farmers had gambrel sticks put away and these were produced, one was stuck through the tendons of the hind legs of the hog and he was hung up, though at first he was laid on a table or generally on a sled brought out for the purpose and the hair was removed.

Used Hand Tools. Then the most skillful man took a big knife, cut the hog open, took out the entrails and the hog was left to cool and the process was repeated till all the porkers had been killed. After they were cool came the cutting up. The hams were neatly trimmed, the shoulders treated likewise, the side meat prepared for pickling, the spare ribs and back bone trimmed and fat taken off and cut to pieces, the pieces used for sausage meat properly prepared. Then came cutting the sausage meat. For a long time this was done with a big knife on a block or top of a stump, while the lard was rendered by boiling and the cracklings carefully preserved to be used in corn bread.

After a while the sausage cutting machine was invented and it was counted a great thing and one was generally used in a neighborhood, being loaned from family to family. Then came the stuffing of the sausage meat. This was generally done with a tin stuffer about five inches in diameter with a small tube at the end. The sausage meat was put into the stuffer, the tube inserted into an entrail prepared for the purpose and a strong man pushed the plunger down and sausage meat into the receptacle or sometimes a woman would make muslin bags two inches in diameter and the sausage meat would be placed in them.

The Family Meat Supply. When the hams were properly cured with the use of brine prepared with salt, sugar and saltpeter they were hung in the smokehouse and the small boy, if any in the family, had to see that the fire was kept smoldering, coals, or preferably hickory chips, being used.

The spare ribs and backbone, roasted, the scraps fried, the sausage while it lasted, the hams and pickled pork at last were about the only supply of meat the family had and the poor person who lived in a town would fatten a hog or two and have no other meat the year round, unless possibly a chicken, as a great rarity, but such a thing as going to the meat shop for fresh meat wasn't even thought of.

Then and now. At the Local Plant. Thursday morning a Journal reporter visited the Jacksonville Packing company's establishment and was courteously received by Fred Beggs, the manager, and shown through the works. Near the building is quite a reservoir which was made from excavations for the Whitmer brickyard and is now fed by the same source that made so much trouble in the Davenport coal shaft.

Suppose a porker arrives on a railroad car. He is led through the chute to the killing pen where a chain is deftly hitched to his leg and while he is wondering what it is all about he is jerked up stairs, his heart pierced, the blood removed and the carcass is soon immersed in a tank of hot water while which it is pushed along into the delarding machine, which soon removes the bristles and polishes the bare hide making it look fine and smooth. A gambrel stick is then inserted through the tendons of the hind legs, the carcass is hoisted to the upper floor and attached to traveling hooks and examined by the first inspector, who sees that the glands are free from any taint.

Some of the Processes. All being right the body is split open, the viscera removed and sent to the fertilizer department, the head is removed, the carcass duly stamped by a government inspector and branded and taken to the chilling room and when the reporter visited that department it was certainly about the coolest reception he has had for a long time. The machinery is going all the time keeping the various cooling rooms at the proper temperature. The carcass is left about forty-eight hours to be sure that all animal heat is removed. Some of the carcasses are sold whole to meat dealers and the greater part are cut up at the works.

The inedible parts are duly tanked, the grease secured and the remainder sent to the fertilizer department for all is saved except the squeal and measures are being taken to rescue that from oblivion. In the other part of the works the edible parts are cared for and the process is interesting. Two kinds of lard are made, the open kettle and the steamed. The latter is treated to steam in a closed vessel, taken out and cooled properly, chilled on suitable rollers and placed in receptacles for sale and thus is so prepared that it will do what is technically known as "stand up" or in other words not turn to oil as is the case with lard rendered in the ordinary manner. In the cutting room are all the different kind of cuts, the loins, the hams, sausage pieces, shoulders cut down and made into callies, formerly known as picnic or California hams but now called "callies."

In the Curing Room. In the curing room are tierces or large barrels filled with brine prepared after the best formula and in to these are put all that is to be cured. The large pieces are brought out, washed and duly stamped by the official inspector. The sausage has been duly cut and ground, mixed with spices and whatever else belongs with it, some of it is pushed into small entrails to make wienies, some is placed in hog bladders, all of which are carefully preserved for the purpose and they and the wienies and all are smoked to give them proper color, after which they are cooked, chilled and stamped when they are ready for market.

The hams are smoked, the side meat, feet and other parts duly pickled and all are properly prepared for market, the hams and callies being carefully wrapped.

How Cattle are Killed. The process with the cattle is somewhat less complicated. The animal is driven into the pen and knocked in the head and is then hoisted and bled fully and dropped to the floor, where hide is partly removed. The carcass is then hoisted, the hide taken away, the rest is bled and split, the entrails taken out and sent to the fertilizer department, the rest is run along the traveling hooks, washed thoroughly and officially inspected and if passed duly stamped and trimmed. It is then run into the cooling room, where it is chilled through thoroughly. It is then sent to another room where it is cut if it is to be cut, and the various parts are duly sorted and prepared for sale or shipment. Generally the carcasses are sold whole or by quarters. Few or no sheep are killed at this place.

Company Does Large Business. The reporter went from one end of the establishment to the other, called wholly unannounced, and was pleased to find things in such good condition. The whole place is as neat and sanitary, free from offensive odors as the kitchen of a clean and frugal housewife.

The company buys its animals at home much as possible though to get all it needs it has to ship in a good many. Its selling territory extends as far north on the Alton as Delavan, on the north to Mexico, Mo., and south on the Alton to Jerseyville, west on the Wabash to Hannibal, southeast on the Burlington to Litchfield, east to Springfield. It has five traveling salesmen, one for Indianapolis and one for Springfield territory. It kills 1100 hogs and 200 cattle a month, pays $55,000 annually in wages and last year did a business of $415,000.

Fred Beggs is the manager, Dr. J. B. Clancy, government inspector, and T. A. Casey, meat inspector.

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Bring Back Its Gloss, Lustre, Charm and Get Rid of Dandruff—Try the Moist Cloth.

To be possessed of a head of heavy beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Adv.

AGRICULTURAL LITERATURE
Farmers' Institute Committee on Library Makes Report on New Books.

In view of the fact that much so-called agricultural literature published is of little value and that some of it is positively harmful, a list of agricultural books recommended by such authority as Dr. Eugene Davenport, dean of the college of agriculture and chairman of the library committee of the Illinois Farmers' Institute, will assure the reader that the books are the best obtainable. The following is Dean Davenport's report to the president of the institute:

"As chairman of the committee on library I want to report what seemed to me to be the cream of literature that has appeared recently along agricultural lines.

"Principles of Rural Economics," by Dr. Carver of Harvard, published by Ginn & Co., Boston. This book is what its title indicates, a treatise on the economic principles involved in farming and it is a master treatise.

"Farm Management," by Warren of Cornell university, published by Macmillan Co. This title also indicates the field covered and it is done in a most excellent manner. "Co-operation in Agriculture," by Powell, published by Macmillan Co. This book dealt principally with what has actually been accomplished among the fruit men of the Pacific slope and is an excellent contribution to the general subject of co-operation.

"New Lives For Old," by Carleton, published by Small, Maynard & Co., Boston. This deals with New England farm life and shows the conditions under which the agriculture of the east has languished and some of the conditions that would revive it.

"One Way Out," by the same author and publisher, is introductory to the above book and deals with the author's experience as an employee in a great factory. It shows how his living expenses increased with his salary until he lost his job he was unable to support his family of three. Abandoning the attempt, he went to the docks and became a pioneer in spirit and re-established his business.

"Adventures in Contentment," by David Grayson, standard edition by Doubleday, Page & Co., New York, is a delightful series of essays on the social side of country life. David Grayson is a pen name. The real author is an old friend of mine, well known in literary circles. His book is excellent reading for mature people as 'One Way Out' is for young men.

"This is the best report that I can make at the present time from the committee on library. The purpose has not been to recommend everything that is coming out, but only the things that are of special interest at this time.

Books heretofore recommended by this committee are:

"Bacteria in Relation to Country Life,"—Lipman.

"Feeds and Feeding,"—W. A. Henry.

"Soil Fertility and Permanent Agriculture,"—Fornow.

"Beef Production,"—Mumford.

"Types and Breeds of Farm Animals,"—Plumb.

"The Story of the Soil,"—Hopkins.

All first class booksellers can supply copies of any of these books on short notice—Illinois Farmers' Institute.

VISIT HISTORIC CITY OF MOSCOW

TOURISTS HAVE GRAVE TROUBLES IN MAKING THEIR WANTS KNOWN.

People Who Speak English Are Few—Had Long Search For the Post-office—City Has Sixteen Hundred Churches, Chapels and Convents.

It cost almost twenty-three million dollars and the grand golden dome cost over eighty millions. It is built in the form of a cross and will hold 23,000 people standing, as is the case in all cathedrals. The cornerstone was laid in 1829 and the building was dedicated in 1883. It is grand, gorgeous, rich and wonderful. Costly marbles from various parts of the world adorn its interior and rich paintings and carved woodwork form a part of its belongings. Many square yards of the walls are covered with slabs of marble and on them in letters lined with gilt are names of prominent men and organizations that participated in the wars, sums contributed by the people for the expense of the war and other facts. Our guide pointed with great pride to the fine record of 6,000,000 rubles contributed by Moscow, while St. Petersburg came up with but two millions.

The altar is as large as a small house and is of rare Italian marble and was made in that land. When we entered a service was in progress and a choir of male voices was making some fine music, while the archdeacon intoned the service in a grand manner. After that was over and the men and priests had left we were permitted to go around and enter the altar; that is, we men folks were, while Mrs. Ewert and Henrietta had to stay on the outside. The chief article of interest there was a service table worth hundreds of thousands. On its four sides were bas-reliefs in gold, showing on one side the nativity, on the other the twelve apostles, on another the last supper and on the fourth the leadings saints of Russia. The top no one but priests is permitted to see. Back of the altar is the chair of the archbishop of Moscow and is of rare marble and costly work and by one side of the cross in the body of the church are seats for the car and empress and these seats, too, are costly and rich marble and elegant furnishings. The whole church is a dream and the great dome looms up magnificently. All about were devout persons crossing to the sacred objects and blessing themselves.

Other religions than that of the established Greek Catholic church don't thrive much in Russia. The Roman Catholics have two churches here, the Lutherans two, the Armenians one and there are two or three Jewish synagogues, but they are small, as that race is cruelly persecuted.

A fine monument to Alexander III. keeps in mind a man who did his country little good, as he was a reactionary of the worst sort. His father liberated the serfs and would doubtless have done more had his life been spared, but the son was too much like Rehoboam. The monument is a fine piece of work and well surrounded, but the people seem to care little for it and one man remarked that it had been for the good of Russia had Alexander III. not been born.

We went through the royal palace and at first it was my intention to give a description of it, when I reflected that there are 568 rooms in it. It covers a space as large as a good sized square, and what could I do in the limits of a newspaper article? Visitors were not permitted to use note books in the building and we were watched carefully by guards all the time. Our guide belongs to a guild to whom special privileges are granted, so that we gained admission pretty much all over the structure. We enter a vestibule and look up a broad, great staircase, imposing in its immensity and soon ascend, looking at costly and rare mural or wall paintings as we advance. Rich and rare marbles form the balustrades and at the top we look down into a court below, in which is a small and unpretentious church, which we are told is one of the oldest in the city. It was built at a nearly day when there was no thought of the palace and now it is used only on rare occasions.

As we proceed from room to room a mass of gold, glitter, costly furniture, rare tapestry and everything that can minister to the eye and taste is seen. Here are four immense chandeliers of a peculiar pattern, standing on supports of glass and gold. The great banquet hall is richly adorned with all that can minister to wealth and luxury. The throne room is grandest of all and is embellished with wealth untold. At one end high on the wall is an all seeing eye of burnished gold and twelve feet in diameter. The door is of fine, rich polished wood and glitters almost like rare marbles.

The banquet hall will seat several hundred persons and is used only on state occasions, when it is a blaze of gold and grandeur. It is supplied with the costliest furniture and the rich viands served here must be of the choicest only for royal and noble palates. The family rooms are like the rest. The furniture is of various patterns sometimes white and gilt and sometimes of a different hue. The upholstering is of course the finest and while we were not permitted to try it, it is doubtless very comfortable. The long corridors, though not so much used, are adorned with finely carved marble and gilding, and beckon the visitor to traverse them many times.

The reception rooms where the czar receives his formal deputations are among the finest in the great structure. Their ceilings are high and the walls are particularly grand and embellished with paintings and other works of art. Then there are lesser apartments for occasions not so formal, but still royally furnished and fit for the occupation of kings and princes. As I left the place I couldn't help thinking of the unhappy empress, almost bereft of heart and reason by worry, and the czar afraid of daily assassination, and I wondered after all if such grandeur had much happiness in it.

July 4—It is hard for me to realize that this is our national birthday, yet so it is and we are here in the old city of Russia, so far from home. I hope the day is being suitably remembered in Jacksonville and at the park there are all sorts of doings in the daytime, with fireworks in the evening. There's no land like ours no matter where it is under the sun and we should be thankful for such a country, and so I would like to give three cheers for old glory anyway and the readers of the Journal will kindly consider them given with a will.

The National Treasury.

When our excellent guide said he was going to conduct us to the national treasury I had money in mind and supposed we should see something akin to the contents of the grey building in Washington City at home, but it is nothing of the kind. We were a trifle late, as I had had an exasperating experience in the morning. I had to have some money sent to the bank of the Credit Lyonnais, which I supposed would surely be up to date in its methods and approaching the official in charge asked him if he would cash my check and also sell me a draft for ten roubles, about five dollars, to send to Peking, China. He said he would and stepping into a different part of the place he came back and said the exchange on the draft would be 75 cents, so I told him I would not send it. I then waited till almost out of patience, all the while being in an office or waiting room adjoining that of the manager, and finally a man came with a check for me to sign. I signed and after being in that bank exactly 25 minutes I received the money on my check, a transaction which would have taken about two or three minutes at home.

After this provoking delay we hastened our steps toward the intended place and tonight I actually am bewildered in thinking over what we have seen today. We have gazed on armor and weapons dating back many centuries and have looked at articles worth millions on millions, simply lying in cases, doing no one any good at all. But I will not moralize but still give much description as I think will be interesting. Our way led along the rear of the arsenal and we walked through a beautiful, narrow park and between two rows of trees that make me think of the Unter den Linden of Berlin, only the trees here were larger and finer. We walked over a moat which once protected what was a fortress, but was all canghed now to something more peaceful.

The treasury building is hardly as pretentious as the one in Washington, but the contents can hardly be compared, for they are wholly unlike. It is a large, plain stone building and it houses treasures which simply cannot be measured or estimated.

There is a grindstone which is old and delapidated, but try to buy it. Why not? Because it was used by Peter the Great when he sharpened the tools with which he worked and here is a large bell which tells a different story. It comes from Ouglitch, the place where the young son of Ivan the Terrible was assassinated and it rang the alarm when the deed was done. Those old drums wouldn't bring much in a junk shop, but they were carried by the troops of Peter the Great and are above price. On the walls near by are some rare specimens of Gobelins tapestry portraying Bible scenes, among them Hagar and Ishmael in the wilderness and kindred scenes. Here is a lot of German armor of the XIV. century and two suits made for Czar Alexis when he was a boy of ten, and they look strange beside the stern affairs worn by grim warriors of that day. Near by are a horse and rider armed cap a pie and the wonder is how an animal could carry such a load.

A helmet worn by Ivan the Terrible, the bloody emperor who caused the death of so many people and another worn by Czar Michael, first of the Romanoff dynasty, all carry one back a long way. A more interesting article is a kind of helmet worn by Catherine the Great and patterned after the St. Andrea order. The armor of Czar Alexis, a collection or armor of the XVth century, or armor of the Duke Demetrius in the battle with the Mongols. Here is a famous article in the shape of a helmet sent Grand Duke Vladimir from Greece in 980 when the recipient first embraced Christianity. Much more armor fills this place and we pass on to another in which are arms of every description and the collection is of surpassing interest. Here is a quaint assortment of old fashioned flint lock guns used by Czar Michael, first of the Romanoff dynasty and we wonder how on earth they ever managed to kill anything with these crude weapons. Some old time blunderbusses of the XVIIth century are clumsy enough with barrels three inches in diameter. Here in a case we find a lot of daggers and see the diamonds and precious stones in the hilts. How profligate of money they were in those days when precious stones cost so much. Here is what is said to be the longest gun ever made to be used by hands. The barrel is nine feet long and it is correspondingly heavy.

A collection of swords and scabbards tells a sad story. It was secured from Stanislaus Augustus, last of the Polish kings, in 1764. Some of these are very beautiful, being adorned with precious stones and other things.

Here are some cushion like things and you would never guess what they are for, so will tell you. They were worn next the head to protect it from heavy steel helmets worn by the knights of old, and here are some guns which must be worth a mint of money, for they are inlaid with beautiful pearl in the most artistic style and they come from India. How well they shot I don't undertake to say. A priceless collection of swords once belonged to Peter the Great and on the blade of one he has engraved a calendar and probably he carried it most of the time. Others are heavily adorned with diamonds and the hilts and scabbards are and are only rivaled in elegance by a collection belonging to Catharine the Great. The hilts of the swords and the scabbards are set with diamonds and emeralds, with some rubies added and those gold affairs looking a bit like an old time powder flask, only smaller, used to contain perfumery for the royal nostrils of Catharine and near by is a collection of pistols belonging to the same lady and they are of all sorts, clumsy, huge, long enough almost for rifles, flint locks and all sorts and sizes.

Leaving the greater part of the things in this place unmentioned we pass into a hall filled with war trophies. Here is a chair which tells of the defeat of a brave man, Charles XIIth of Sweden. He was wounded in a battle with the forces of Peter the Great and in this chair was carried from the field and lying near by is a well used sword which he gave to his victor when he surrendered. Here is a grand piece of furniture and two of less note beside it. It is the chair or throne on which Nicholas I. sat when he was crowned in 1825. Here is a case of ancient reliques including a chair of ivory and other articles and in a glass case carefully preserved are specimens of hair taken from the royal heads of Michael, first of the Romanoff dynasty; Alexis, Peter the Great, Anna of Holstein and others.

In that case are a lot of watches of quaint and unique design and a lot of buttons large, elegant and wonderful, for one would hardly suppose so much could be lavished on such articles. Some more magnificent chairs or thrones we see, one with its mated used at the coronation of Alexander II. in 1856 and two more used at the coronation of Alexander III. in 1881. These magnificent chairs are generally upholstered in scarlet velvet and superbly adorned with carving and other things. Those faded banners told another sad story is they were captured in 1831, when Warsaw was last conquered and unhappy Poland passed under Russian rule.

We now pass to another hall in which are great cases filled with gold and silver plate coronation gifts to the royalty; many other things are here too. A case of old coins is interesting, but a description is out of the question. A case of family relics of the Romanoffs includes the inkstand used by Michael, the first one and many other things, and here is a case of silverware of huge dimensions, the gift of Queen Elizabeth to Boris Godounoff. It includes a sein holding more than a quart, two immense candlesticks, two leopards fully three feet tall, vases thirty inches high and many other things. Here is a case containing a royal gift of Louis XVth to Catharine the Great, and comprises the usual large and superb articles. Here is a unique collection sent by residents of Bethlehem and comprises beautiful articles in the mother of pearl, for which the locality is noted.

Here is a collection of table knives and forks made by prisoners in the jails of Moscow and show wonderfully good handiwork and near by is a box heavily overlaid with gold and in diamonds the words: "God Save the Czar."

In this case is a great solid silver plate sent from Copenhagen and another from Stockholm and the work and embellishments on it are remarkable. On the wall near by are several pieces of rare tapestry whose value is told in the tens if thousands and before it is a table of solid silver used on coronation days. One of the most singular articles among the many in the cases here is a silver loving cup, so-called, and represents a rooster standing erect. It was used, however, by Ivan the Terrible for poison and it was well understood that when that infamous wretch presented that cup to any one it would be the last drink the recipient would ever take on earth.

In another case was a silver soup bowl or tureen used by Ivan the Terrible and standing next to it a china cup of peculiar design and of Syrian ware and held the liquor that man drank at each meal. Another peculiar trophy is a fine marble statue of Napoleon I. representing him as a Roman emperor. He is crowned with laurel according to a rule, but the features are not at all natural. It was carried away from Versailles in 1814 and is another token of the humiliation the French have suffered in times gone by. Here is another evidence of the wonderful versatility of Peter the Great, if the history of the article is true, for they are said to be the handiwork of that wonderful man. The list includes many silver pieces of remarkable workmanship, such as an ornamented tank, a lot of flagree work, plates, cups, medallions and other articles.

Here is another solid silver table used at coronation times and by it the gold vases in which the royal pair washed their hands in wine, at the time. Next we come to some wonderful crystal dishes belonging to Catharine the Great and next are some articles from the Persian amur. This case holds a lot of immense gold and silver articles presented Catharine the Great by France and comprise a great eagle, several cups, vases and all of huge dimensions and along side are a fan and several personal articles used by that wonderful woman, also some beautiful articles in ivory. Here are some glass things, not very wonderful, but they have a history, as they were made in Mecklenburg in the presence of Peter the Great. There is a glass tumbler and in it another glass piece and within that a gold coin dropped there by the monarch himself. Another case was a massive silver and gold collection of articles from Augsburg and made in the XVIIth century. The vases are thirty inches high and the other things in proportion and all richly embellished. Here on the walls a unique collection of plates from various provinces, some from Mohammedan subjects and some from the China vassals. These plates are curiously wrought and of intricate design and are given with a piece of bread and some salt, according to custom and below are salt receptacles, also of gold and silver, one of them resembling a sheaf of wheat with diamond settings.

The most valuable single article in the room is said to be a platinum plate thirty inches in diameter, while the center, looked like a punch bowl. It was hard to describe and still harder to estimate its value. It was from Kirghis, the mountain ruler. (To Be Continued.)

Harry Myers has returned from his sojourn at West Baden much improved in health and has undertaken his regular work again.

LAW GETS MAN AFTER LONG WAIT.

New York, Oct. 2.—With all the appearance of a man who had retired from business after a successful career, Walter G. Farnald appeared as a prisoner before United States Commissioner Hitchcock today for a preliminary examination on an indictment charging him with swindling through the mails. A decade ago Farnald was widely known as the guiding spirit of two promoting companies in Jersey City. Complaints were made that the companies were doing a fraudulent business and indictments were returned against their officers. Farnald escaped arrest and fled to Europe. For seven years he enjoyed himself in perfect safety in Paris, as the offense with which he was charged was not extraditable. Then came a desire to see old Broadway once more and he sailed for New York, evidently figuring that he and his case had been forgotten by the authorities. But postoffice inspectors with long memories were on hand to greet him and he was promptly arrested as he stepped down the gangplank.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten It.

There is usually a certain degree of dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of childbirth. But, thanks to a most remarkable remedy known as Mother's Friend, all fear is banished and the period is one of unbounded joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is used externally. It is a most penetrating application, makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, without distress and with none of that peculiar nausea, nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are held up to veneration; they are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and brighten the homes of a host of happy families.

There are thousands of women who have used Mother's Friend, and thus know from experience that it is one of our greatest contributions to healthy, happy motherhood. It is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle, and is especially recommended as a preventive of eating breasts and all other such distresses.

Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 131 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their very valuable book to expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend to-day.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

THOMAS REES IS HONORED BY APPOINTMENT FROM PRESIDENT

One of State Register Owners Named
Commissioner General of South America For Panama-Pacific Exposition.

A special from Washington to the State Register from Wade M. Wade tells of the honor which has just come to Thomas Rees, one of the owners of the Illinois State Register and incidentally one of the best informed and most successful newspaper men of Illinois.

"Thomas Rees, one of the owners of the Illinois State Register, has today been appointed by President Wilson, at the instance of Senator Lewis, commissioner-general at large for South America in the matter of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

"He is also made commissioner-general of the press department connected with the work of the exposition, and all matters that hereafter go to the press of the country of transactions of the commission must come through him and be approved by him.

Will Confer With Bryan.
"Secretary William Jennings Bryan has just transmitted his official commission to the new commissioner-general and Mr. Rees is expected to reach the secretary of state in Washington in the course of a few days and to receive special instructions from the state department concerning his duties. This is one of the most important appointments in connection with the coming Panama-Pacific exposition and carries with it high honors all over the South American countries, in addition to the grave responsibilities."

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY.
Ladies' high grade waists, all kinds, including silk, flannel and mixtures. It will pay you to see these for they are going to be sold way below usual cost. We bought them cheap at a manufacturer's sale and will be satisfied with small profit.

SALE OF HAIR GOODS

Continuing All Week. $5,000 Worth of Human Hair

At Almost Half Value.

After many weeks of correspondence and much expense we have secured the agency for the finest human hair goods ever brought to this country. In order to introduce this beautiful hair to the women of Jacksonville and vicinity the importer's demonstrators will be at our store Monday and the balance of the week, and will offer the best

Switches at Almost Half Price

All goods represent the very highest standard of quality, durability and workmanship; guaranteed strictly sanitary; by their fineness and beautiful lustre reflecting all the health and vigor of the sturdy peasant girls of sunny France, from whom they came.

Never before have the people of Jacksonville had the opportunity to make selections from such a large quantity of naturally wavy human hair; the collection is so large that any shade of hair can be matched perfectly.

$5,000 Worth of Fine Hair Goods

—more than has ever been assembled at any one time in all other Jacksonville stores combined.

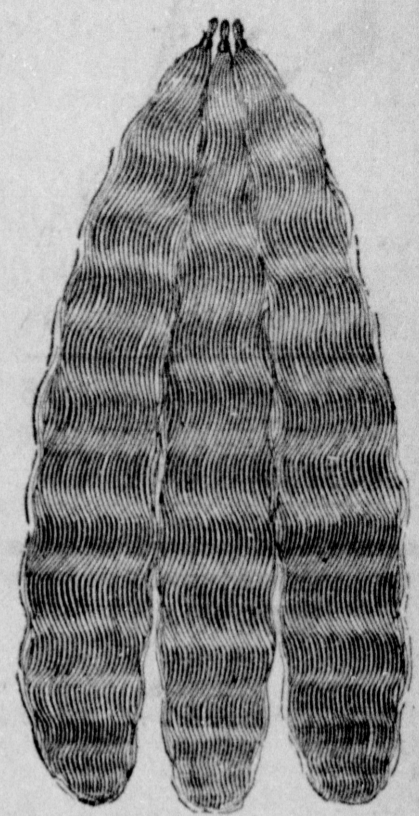

Even if you don't need hair goods at this time you will surely want to come and see this wonderful display. There has never been anything like it in this part of the state. Even the larger cities seldom if ever have such a fine collection of hair goods on exhibition.

In gray switches we excel, and women who haven't been able heretofore to secure a good match will find at our store now the exact shade required, as soft, and silky as your own hair.

This is a most generous offer, and we invite every woman who reads this notice to avail herself of this opportunity to try these remarkable "helps to beauty" at our expense.

MONTGOMERY & DEPPE

"Years of Experience Have Proven to Me That the MAJESTIC Range IS the Best"

"Strange, that for years, I couldn't see that trying to get good work from an old, worn-out range, merely to save the price of a new one, was not true economy. My Great Majestic has more than earned its cost in the saving of fuel alone, because the open seams and joints in my old, worn-out range where the bolts were loose and the putty had crumbled away, made me burn twice as much fuel as necessary.

"Talk about luck in baking—"luck" is nothing but good oven and my Majestic oven is simply perfect. I can depend on it absolutely every day. I believe father and the children are happier and I know we have better meals at less expense with our Majestic."

Don't Buy Any Range Sight Unseen

Buying a range isn't an every day transaction. To be absolutely sure of complete satisfaction—don't buy from printed descriptions—buy the Great Majestic (dealer in nearly every county in 40 states) compare it point for point with any other range. Then you can buy intelligently and be sure of a range that will last a lifetime—this

MISS BESS MILBURN BECOMES

BRIDE OF MR. LEO S. JOHNSON

Ceremony Is Performed Thursday Evening at 5:30 O'clock at the Home of the Groom's Parents.

In the presence of only the immediate family of the groom, Leo S. Johnson and Miss Aileen Bess Milburn, were married at the home of Mr. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bart Johnson, 812 South West street Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Dr. F. A. McCarty and followed by a wedding supper at 6 o'clock.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. W. H. Milburn of Los Angeles, Cal. For a number of years the family resided in this city, but moved to St. Louis some fifteen years ago. The bride returned to this city about three years ago and has since resided here. The groom is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bart Johnson and was born and reared in this city. He received his education in the public schools and high school of this city and both he and his bride are accomplished musicians. They have a wide circle of friends who will extend their best wishes. They received quite a number of beautiful and useful presents among them a handsome chair from a number connected with the Grand Opera House, Mr. Johnson being a member of the orchestra at that theatre. The card attached to the chair bore the names of the following donors: Harold J. Johnson, Homer Reid, H. L. Hunt, Maurice Raymond, Mrs. Cronk, Robert Boyd, Ivan Hawk and Willard Jeffries.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside with his parents for the present. They expect to commence housekeeping in a few weeks.

Band Gives Charivari.

In celebration of the nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson two different parties of young people gave them a charivari early in the evening and about 11 o'clock Thursday night the entire force at the Opera House and members of the Jeffries Band, including Mr. Raymond, went to the Johnson residence where they proceeded to make merry. There were about twenty in the party and the members of the band played two numbers. Mr. Raymond performed a number of card tricks and the visitors were served with refreshments and cigars. Over Mr. Johnson's chair at the Opera House during Thursday night's performance was hung a large sign bearing the inscription: "Where is Our Wandering Boy Tonight?"

WILL EXHIBIT PONIES.

Logan Black of east of the city was engaged Thursday in shipping his Shetland ponies to Springfield for his exhibit at the state fair. After his late success in his trip through the east, Mr. Black is hopeful of as good luck with his ponies at the capital city.

MATRIMONIAL

Lewis-Rottger.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Sweeney in Rushville, Ill., Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Lucile A. Rottger became the bride of Mr. Henry D. Lewis, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. C. Adams of the Methodist Protestant church. The ceremony was witnessed by only relatives and immediate friends.

The Sweeney home was artistically decorated for the occasion by the use of autumn foliage, the securing and arranging of the same being the hands of the Boy Scouts of the church.

The wedding ceremony was marked with beauty and simplicity and all the appointments were exquisitely made. The bride and groom were unattended and the troth was plighted in an impressive manner. The bride was gown'd in a white brocade chambrase, trimmed in white maribon, and carried a shower bouquet of Kilarney roses. Following the marriage an elaborate luncheon was served on small tables.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. John Rottger and she was born and reared in this city. For some time she has been making her home with her sister, Mrs. T. W. Sweeney in Rushville. She received her education in the Jacksonville High school and was a student of music at the Illinois Woman's college. She is a charming and admirable young woman and is especially talented in music and has often been heard with pleasure by Jacksonville audiences. For some time she has had charge of the music in the M. E. church in Rushville. Her many friends in Jacksonville will join with her other acquaintances in wishing her a happy married life.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Lewis of Brooklyn. He received his education in the public schools of his home town and is a graduate of the law department in Northwestern university. He has been practicing his profession in Rushville for the past two years and has recently been elected city attorney. He is a young man of ability and sterling qualities and held in much esteem.

The young people went to Chicago and other northern points for a wedding trip and after their return in two weeks they will reside on West Washington street.

Among the guests from away were Mr. and Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson and Miss Jessie Rottger of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bruening of Havana, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Lewis and daughter, Miss Mabel, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Camp and Mrs. Ellen King of Brooklyn and Dr. Harry Camp of Monmouth.

Taylor-Kenney.

The marriage of Frank M. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Taylor and Miss Sadie Warren Kenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kenney, both of New Berlin, was solemnized Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. J. J. Wilson of Virginia officiating, assisted by Rev. John Hough of Jacksonville. The wedding party included Miss Nellie Taylor, sister of the groom, bridesmaid; Miss Grace Foutch, maid of honor; Harry V. Taylor, brother of the groom, best man, and little Charlotte Nelson, niece of the bride, ring bearer. The wedding ceremony was performed on a large enclosed veranda which was beautifully decorated with vines and Japanese lanterns. The groom is a farmer and after a wedding trip they will reside near New Berlin.

Edwards-Burrell.

The marriage of Steven Edwards of Greenfield and Miss Hattie Burrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burrell, took place yesterday at the courthouse, Judge E. P. Brockhouse officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by the bride's mother. The young people will reside on a farm near Greenfield.

HAVE LIGHT CROSSING.

Inconvenienced by the absence of an arc light near the car switch at the intersection of Park, Caldwell and West State streets, a number of residents in the vicinity went together and purchased a high power incandescent lamp which was first lighted Thursday evening. As his part of the agreement, W. B. Miser will contribute the current free of charge.

NO CONTEST FOR MINOR OFFICES IN JACKSONVILLE PRECINCT

Republicans, Democrats and Progressives Will Support Same Candidates for Justices of the Peace and Constables — Peace Conference Held Thursday Night.

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

One might surmise the political strife in Jacksonville is a thing of the past if judgment could be based on the results of the primaries of Jacksonville district held last night by Republicans, Democrats and Progressives at the Morgan county court house. Each of the three parties in these separate mass meetings appointed three plenipotentiaries with power to act and these nine men met in the circuit judges office. There it was agreed that Republicans should nominate three candidates for justices of the peace, and three for constable; that the Democrats should nominate two candidates for justice of the peace and two for constable and that the Progressives would make no nominations but would endorse whatever candidate of the ten, they chose. Andrew Carnegie himself would certainly have been delighted with this peace plan.

No Campaign Expenses Necessary. The action meant that the men who were placed in nomination will not be required to buy any cigars or to conduct a hand shaking campaign for there are ten offices to be filled and just ten candidates. When the report of the peace committee had been made to the several conventions and their action ratified and when each convention had notified the other that such a course would be acceptable the following gentlemen were nominated for the offices.

Justices of the Peace.
By the Republicans:
W. T. Dyer.
Amos Henderson.
L. P. Owen.
By the Democrats:
J. M. Coons.
W. E. Thomson.
Constables.
By the Republicans:
James Trahey.
J. A. Crum.
A. Ferguson.
By the Democrats:
George Eads.
D. J. McCarty.

The Presiding Officers.
In the Republican mass meeting, Capt. J. M. Swales was the chairman and F. E. McDougall, secretary. A. D. Arnold presided over the Democrats with Judge Brockhouse acting as secretary while in the progressive gathering Thomas Stevenson was the chairman and Dr. W. O. Wait secretary.

At the peace conference, in Judge Thompson's office where the real work of the conventions was done the representatives were: Republicans, George L. Merrill, F. E. McDougall and L. P. Owen; Democrats, Daniel Bahan, H. J. Rodgers and Perry J. White; Progressives, Thos. Stevenson, Dr. E. F. Baker and Dr. W. O. Wait.
